

Vacancy Iconology Research Group: Internship (May-June 2019)

Organization

Professor Dr. Barbara Baert (KU Leuven) founded the Iconology Research Group (IRG) in 2006. IRG is a research platform that explores the role of iconology in relation to Visual Studies and Bildwissenschaften. The IRG research projects mainly focus on the making, meaning and migration of images from the Middle Ages to the present day.

Function

Internship (May-June 2019)

Your main task will consist of editorial work in support of publications of the IRG series. You will assist Professor Dr. Barbara Baert, the founder and editor-in-chief of Iconologies (ASP Editions), Studies in Iconology (Peeters), Art & Religion (Peeters) and Recollection. Experimental Reflections on Texts, Images and Ideas (Leuven University Press), with the preparation of a new contribution to one of these series.

You will also be involved in Professor Dr. Barbara Baert's latest research project Kairós, or the Right Moment: Nachleben and Iconology (2018-2022) by analyzing and describing images in the Cumulus database for example.

Profile

You are a student (Art History) looking for an internship during the academic year 2018-2019 (May-June).

Necessities:

Teamwork – but you're also able to carry out assignments independently.

Attention to detail – you're an extremely accurate worker.

Languages – fluency in English is essential and a good working knowledge of Dutch, French and German.

Apply for the internship

Contact person: Stephanie Heremans Respond before: 25/04/2019

Please send your resume and a brief cover letter to stephanie.heremans@kuleuven.be by 25 April 2019.